It is recommended, that, like Induction, training on Fire and PPE modules are completed before beginning of work by outsourced persons. Training on all other Job / Task safety modules are to be conducted by trainers of the department / function other than Safety. Each Head of Section or Function shall ensure availability of an adequate number of trainers in his/her department or section or function, to impart the job/task related general safety training. It is recommended that such trainers from the department/function trainers use department/function specific incidents as examples to reinforce the content in the standard training modules.

Any shortfall in the numbers of trainers shall be flagged by the respective HODs to the Site Safety Coordinator who will consolidate the requirement to Corporate-Safety. Based on such requirements, Corporate-Safety function will organize periodically appropriate training for trainers.

The training should focus on both safety & health related competency requirements and the need to enhance awareness. Such training includes short toolbox talks. The project should evaluate the effectiveness of the imparted training in any of several ways like: by written or, oral examination, practical demonstration or observation. Training records shall be maintained in a Central System (For NTPC employees in SAP & for Outsourced employees in CLIMS).

A table of status of training of outsourced persons against identified total number on each general safety aspect shall be maintained by each section/department/function.

Sample is given as Annexure-2 for guidance.

Description	Responsibility	Training Coordinator / Faculty	Records
Annexure 2: suggested tracking sheet for status of general safety training for various functions / departments	Concerned HOD	HR-RLI / In house Trainers from dept.	Concerned HOD

As mentioned elsewhere, each Head of Department shall ensure that all contractors and outsourced persons in his control undergo a job/task related training including safety & health hazards and risk aspects of the job and they should be able to explain safety & health hazards and risks and exposure controls/effects related to respective job and tasks.

General Safety Competencies & Training

For projects under construction, the contractors are responsible for training their workers. The HOD/EIC should ensure minimum requirements suggested under Annexure-3 are complied with.

6.2.3 General Health & Safety Training:

The safety & health training programs should also include general courses aimed to maintain a climate of health & safety awareness in the company and project and to ensure that the skills in accident and occupational disease prevention etc. are upgraded.

Suggested annual training programs for employees is given under Annexure-4.

Description	Responsibility	Training Coordinator / Faculty	Records
Annexure 4: suggested annual training topics for employees	RLI	RLI / in house trainers or outsourced	RLI

To ensure safety & health competence related training stays relevant project training plans will be reviewed at least annually and updated.

7.0 RECORDS

1. Annual training plan including refresher training for the period after the previous audit.
2. List of trained trainers available with each section / department / function for each relevant topic. (Ref. Annexure – 7)
3. Training records of company employees including employees transferred to the project from other areas. (Ref. Annexure – 6)
4. Table of trained outsourced persons against identified total number against each module to be maintained by each section/department/function. (Ref. Annexure - 2)
5. Training records of outsourced persons with date of training, trainer and trainee signatures. (Ref. Annexure - 5)

8.0 AUDIT

- 8.1 Records (detailed under 7.0 Records) to be verified for two technical and two non-technical departments and observation of compliance status to be included in the audit report.
- 8.2 Auditors to interview at least two randomly chosen groups of outsourced workers on the field carrying out work, to assess their awareness of their work-related hazards. Result of that oral assessment to be included in the audit report.
